WHERE PRICES ARE LOWEST AND MATERIAL THE BEST—A NEW DISCOVERY TO DELIGHT THE AMATEUR PHOTOGRAPHER.

AT JOURNEAU &amp; BURNHAM'S, FLATBUSH AVE. AND FULTON-ST., BROOKLYN.

That most homelike of stores at Flatbush-ave. and Fulton-st. always exercises a great fascination over the feminine shopper, and, indeed, the men by no means blind to its advantages either; but just at present, as Santa Claus has entered into a temporary partnership with Messrs. Journeau &amp; Burnham, the show of novelties for presents in every department is worthy a special visit from every one.

The toilet, leather and fancy goods departments are doubtless the most conspicuous, and in these can be found hundreds of inexpensive but none the less tasteful articles for personal adornment, and household decoration and use. In the way of dainty little accessories to the toilet, there are jabs, colanders and sieves of fine lace, and ribbons and many number of fur collars, bows and muffs, displayed in the fur department on the second floor. Novelties in stationery are also a feature, and close to this department is the one devoted to umbrellas, from which display can be gained many a hint of an acceptable gift for both men and women. Fancy ties, fine shirts, dressing and bath robes, smoking jackets and numerous other articles will a-swer the question, "What shall I give?" to husband or brother.

Next to the furs, on the second floor, is this firm's embroidery department, greatly enlarged since the opening of the new building, and in which can be found numbers of dainty articles that will delight the heart of girl friends and needle-women. The sofa cushions must be examined particularly, for they are most unusual and handsome. One, for example, of white satin is exquisitely embroidered with American Beauty and La France roses, surrounded with foliage, and the cushion is finished with three ruffles, graduated in size, and of the three different shades of pink shown in the roses. Another, of white, has large yellow chrysanthemums grown over its silken surface. The Meriden Britannia Company has also a large stock of cases, memorandum books, etc., both silver and gold mounted with emeralds and diamonds.

AT THE MERIDEN BRITANNIA COMPANY, NO. 20 FIFTH-AVE.

The splendidly stocked showrooms of the Meriden Britannia Company are irresistably attractive at all times and seasons, but the firm contrives every year to make the task of choosing Christmas gifts a pleasant and simple one, by supplying a selection of articles at once so handsome and so useful that only a lack of taste would make it impossible to make a pleasing selection from this stock. There is, too, an individuality of style, an originality of taste, about the productions of this company which commend their wares forcibly to those who like something out of the ordinary without lapsing into eccentricity. Among these especially attractive things are the most handsome and most share honors with star and cracker jars, silver tins and wine cups.

A new lunch set deserves a special word of description. It consists of a flat silver box for sandwiches, with straps, if desired, for the handles, or a piece of leather, with a leather strap.
